Title of Video: Ken Robinson Says Schools Kill Creativity

Name of Speaker: Sir Ken Robinson

Big idea of this video (write as ONE statement):

List points "worth spreading" (name some points or quotations from the video that struck you as you watched this video):

● KP's favorite "points worth spreading" =

- Creativity is as important as literacy
- Kids will take a chance. They aren't frightened with being wrong.
- If you're not prepared to be wrong, you'll never come up with anything original.
- We are educating people out of their creative capacities.
- The most useful subjects for work are at the top [of the education hierarchy].
- Highly talented, brilliant, creative people think they're not, because the things they're good at in school wasn't valued or was actually stigmatized.
- Suddenly, degrees aren't worth anything.
- Creativity = the process of having original ideas that have value (comes about through interdisciplinary ways of seeing things).

Summarize (paragraph form) the speaker's speaking style. (Engaging? Nonverbals? Verbals? Paralanguage?)

Prepare a 2-3 minute speech about YOUR RESPONSE to this talk. Include a short clip so we get the feel of the talk/content, but be sure to strategically place your clip WITHIN your speech. Be engaging & creative. PREPARE/REHEARSE (DON'T READ TO US)! These speeches are graded. (Clip: ____:____ - ____:____) Bring your speech and this handout to class every Tuesday.
